

CULLUM URGES CUBAN TREATY

The Senator Speaks in Favor of Reciprocity with Republic.

IN NEED OF SPECIAL CONCESSIONS

Declares the Products of United States Can Obtain No Proper Representation By Any Other Means.

Washington, Dec. 8.—Senator Cullum of Illinois, chairman of the foreign relations committee, opened the debate in the senate in favor of Cuban reciprocity and in support of the Cuban bill. After a careful analysis of some of its technical provisions and the constitutional question whether the president and the senate can make effective, without the concurrence of the house, reductions of duties carried in a reciprocity treaty, the senator continued:

"Statistics very clearly demonstrate that the products of the United States must be given special concessions in the ports of Cuba or we cannot hope to secure a fair proportion of the Cuban market. England, Germany and European countries are underselling us in the Cuban market. The balance of trade is now very heavily in favor of Cuba. We purchase her entire crop of sugar and a large part of her tobacco and cigars, and yet we do not supply one-half of Cuba's imports."

Must Take Sugar Crop.
Senator Cullum then reviewed the statistics in reference to the Cuban trade. Cuba's imports for 1902 amounted to more than $62,000,000, of which the United States supplied but $21,000,000 as against $26,000,000 the previous year and $29,000,000 for 1899.

"Comparing the trade of Cuba in the first three months of 1899 with the first three months of 1903," he said, "it has been estimated that the loss and gains in supplying the imports of Cuba are as follows: United States, loss 16 per cent; England, gain 24 per cent; France, gain 11 per cent; Germany, gain 14 per cent."

"The fact that Cuba is constantly increasing her production of sugar cannot be used as an argument against this treaty. Our consumption of sugar is enormous. Last year we imported from foreign countries over $70,000,000 worth of sugar, of which Cuba, even by sending us a vast amount which she had in store, only supplied a little more than one-half. Cuba's entire crop of sugar will come to the United States with or without reciprocity."

ELECTION CONTEST.

Prediction That Mr. Lorimer Will Win the Case.
Washington, Dec. 8.—Speaker Cannon assigned the Durbin-Lorimer

tion committee No. 2, of which Representative Olmstead of Pennsylvania is chairman. The committee consists of six Republicans and three Democrats, Fred Landis, the young Republican congressman from Indiana, being one of its members. It is the several other contested cases which the clerk of the house submitted to the speaker, no testimony nor argument has been submitted in the case. This will not affect the case when Mr. Durbin decides to proceed to perfect his contest for the seat which Mr. Lorimer now occupies. Following the established precedent, the elections committee which will consider the case may be depended upon to bring in a report adverse to Mr. Durbin, and the house will vote to permit Mr. Lorimer to retain his seat.

Philippine Land Rules.
Washington, Dec. 8.—The president has submitted to congress with his approval rules and regulations for the lease, sale or other disposition of the public lands, other than timber or mineral lands, in the Philippine islands. Democrats Favor Chicago.
Washington, Dec. 8.—Chicago will be the choice of the Democratic national committee as the place for its next presidential convention. This prediction is made by Senator Gorman of Maryland, leader of the Democrats in the senate and a probable candidate of his party for the presidential nomination. Senator Gorman says the Democratic national committee will meet in Washington Jan. 12 for the purpose of selecting the place and fixing the time for holding the convention. Personally he is strongly in favor of Chicago, and believes a majority of the national committee men are.

TURKS INSULTED FLAG

AMERICAN CONSUL AT BEIRUT LEAVES THE CITY

Takes Down the Stars and Stripes and Reports to Minister Leishman the Insult Received From Moslems—Minister Wants Full Satisfaction.

(Special By Scripps-McLain.)
Constantinople, Dec. 8.—The United States consul has left his post at Beirut and has caused the American flag to be hauled down from the consulate at Alexandria. The cause of the trouble was a base insult which he was subjected by the Turkish police and the assaults upon his person by these same officers. Minister Leishman has made urgent representations to the porte and when a complete report of the outrage has been received he will demand the fullest reparation possible. The affair has created a great impression in diplomatic circles here. It seems that an Armenian named Chances Attarian but a naturalized American citizen, had been arrested. Consul Davis secured his release and was escorting him to the vessel which was to carry him out of the country when he was assaulted. The police arrested Attarian and assaulted the consul when he attempted to defend his companion. Davis then lowered the flag over the consulate and broke off all official relations with the government. Later a mob made decided demonstrations against the consulate and Christians generally. The Turks claim Davis struck the police first.

VICTIM OF PRINCESS EXPIRES IN HOSPITAL

Denial From Official Sources Regarding Royal Scandal Is Offset by Newspaper Reports.

Berlin, Dec. 8.—The young Czech actress, Louise Zeigler, said by the Frankfurter Zeitung to have been shot by the Princess Elizabeth of Windisch-Graetz while keeping a rendezvous with the latter's husband, died at a hospital in Prague, according to the Boersen Courier, another local paper, which publishes full particulars of the tragedy.

In the face of the most emphatic denials from official sources, the Frankfurter Zeitung, which originally printed the story of the shooting, persists in its first version of the affair. From the fact that the Boersen Courier also asserts that the tragedy was enacted substantially as told by the Zeitung, no doubt is felt here as to the accuracy of the latter paper's account.

The story, as first outlined, was to the effect that the princess, being suspicious of her husband, followed him to his apartments, fired at and wounded a valet posted at the door to avoid intrusion, entered, and shot her rival in a fit of uncontrollable fury.

The actress was at first reported to be in no danger, though painfully wounded. She and the valet were removed to a hospital, however, and the Courier asserts the actress expired.

DOWIE OFFERS TERMS TO ALL HIS CREDITORS

Proposition to Meet Debts in Installments Within One Year, With Interest, Meets With Favor.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—John Alexander Dowie has high hopes that the receivers now in charge of Zion City property will be discharged today and control restored to him.

Dowie's attorney expressed belief that the end of the present financial tangle had been reached.

The hope of the general overseer and his legal counsel is based on developments that followed each other in rapid succession yesterday afternoon and evening.

There appeared indications that practically all the creditors have decided to favor a proposition made by Dowie himself. Representatives of ten creditors, most of them large houses, examined Zion City's assets during the day and then unanimously decided to ask that the receivership be terminated at once. A committee representing the other creditors will examine the assets to-day. If their report is favorable the creditors will accept a proposition to pay all debts in installments within one year, with interest at 6 per cent.

This offer was made to a meeting of creditors held in the First National bank building. After consideration a committee was appointed to examine the assets.

The Rest Fled, After Being Shot at Repeatedly, Leaving Trail of Blood Behind.

(Special By Scripps-McLain.)
Denver, Dec. 8.—Three Italian striking miners were killed in an attack upon the guards at the Colorado Fuel and Iron company's plant at Segundo last night and several others are thought to have been badly wounded in the attack. The odds were greatly in favor of the strikers who came upon the seven guards of the company when they were unprepared and without any warning shot into them and also threw bricks and clubs at the men. The guards returned the fire and at the first volley three of the Italians fell dead and the rest fled. The guards continued to shoot and from the trail of blood left by the fugitives it is thought that many of them were badly injured and carried away by their friends. The guards have been strongly reinforced and more serious trouble is feared by the authorities.

The woman was poorly dressed. Station hands carried the body to the baggage-room, where it was found that the back was broken and the skull had been crushed. While they were examining the body they found the hidden money. The bags contained the following: Gold pieces amounting to $147; eighty-one $10 bills, six twenties, 151 $5 and twenty $1 and $2 bills. THE SHOOTING OF VERMEULEN

PARTICULARS OF TRAGEDY NEAR BELOIT ON SUNDAY.

THREATENED LIFE OF PERA

Stranger Who Accidentally Fired the Gun Was in Grave Danger for Time—Verdict, Accidental Death.

With his side torn open by a charge of buck-shot from the gun of a companion, John Vermeulen of Beloit staggered into the arms of his brother-in-law Sunday afternoon, exclaiming: "Who has shot me! Who has killed me!" The tragedy occurred on the farm of Capt. Knifans where the young man was hunting rabbits with Peter S. Kastner. The two were joined sometime after twelve o'clock by John Pera, a stranger to both.

Pera is seized while he was being carried dying to the city, angry friends seized Pera, from whose gun the fatal charge came, and only the intervention of cooler heads prevented his being shot on the spot. Young Vermeulen died at the St. Mary's hospital Sunday, and before his lips were sealed by death he told a sister that the shooting was purely accidental and that he did not want any harm to come to Pera who was innocent of all intent to slay. The coroner's jury Monday morning, after hearing all the particulars, brought in a verdict of accidental death.

Eighty Shot Removed Before Vermeulen's death eight shot were removed from the wound. He was twenty-two years old and had been employed in the Beloit Iron works.

REIGN OF TERROR WAS THREATENED

Judge Sale's Measure to Repeal Bicycle Ordinance, Introduced—Purpose Not Plain at First.

To secure positive results by negative methods Judge Sale some time ago introduced an ordinance repealing section one of the regulation as to the use of bicycles which was passed on June 7, 1897. Last night it was advanced to a third reading and put on passage. Judge Sale spoke in behalf of the measure, saying that there had been much riding of the sidewalks by anybody to enforce the rule. It was demoralizing to have that or any other regulation on the books if it was not going to be enforced. There was a proclamation every spring and that was about all it amounted to.

Several aldermen spoke against the measure to repeal, expressing their convictions that the ordinance as it now existed accomplished some good and that its repeal would precipitate a reign of terror. Alderman Matheson assured the council that the officers would see to it that this and all other ordinance were enforced from now on. Judge Sale's repeal measure was lost by a vote of nine to one.

NOT DAUNTED BY THE PRISON-BARS

YOUNG SCHOOL TEACHER VISITED THOMAS JOYCE EACH WEEK

A PRETTY LITTLE ROMANCE

Enacted Before Unseeing Spectators at Trial Last Week—Story of Stella Davidson of Milton.

Few of the "gallery" who watched the Joyce trial with absorbing interest last week took any particular notice of a winsome little woman who was ever the first to arrive in the court room and last to leave. She was dressed in garments of a sombre hue and studiously avoided any action or movement that might attract attention to herself. And there hangs a tale, or the prologue of a little comedy, if you please, the denouement of which cannot be foretold.

Was a School-Teacher. The young lady's name is Stella Davidson. She is nineteen years old and her father, is a well known contractor in Milton. It is said that after she first saw Thomas Joyce during the preliminary trial last summer she resigned her position, found employment in Jansville, and resided here for a time at least.

However, it is certain it is that from that time forward she became a constant visitor at the county jail, never failing to see him at least once each week. The young lady was very popular in Milton and her action has created great surprise in the little town.

DISCUSSION OF VOTING MACHINES

Only a Few Citizens Were Present to Listen to Plan Last Night—Council Took No Action.

Only a few citizens manifested sufficient interest in the proposed substitution of voting machines for the old system of balloting to put in an appearance at the city hall last evening. The council took a short recess and listened to a discussion of the merits of the machine by Mr. Hamilton, representing the United States Standard Voting Machine Co. of Rochester, New York.

To Reduce Districts. The plan he submitted to the council comprehended a reduction of the nine voting districts to five. One of these machines in an election at Milwaukee accommodated 101 voters an hour or 1303 in a day, and as the largest combined vote in the two precincts of the Fourth ward, city of Jansville, had amounted to 700, there could therefore be no question as to the ability of five machines to amply take care of the voters. A map of the city, showing how the voting places could be arranged so as to compel no voter to walk more than three or four blocks, had been prepared and was submitted. There were some exceptions in the Fourth ward but these were not deemed important.

Saving to City. The machines would cost $500 apiece. The council was to pay for them in yearly installments amounting to the saving made in dispensing with ballot clerks and so forth. This was estimated at $381 a year, but the council would be allowed to make its own estimate. The agent said that there were 1,100 of the machines in use in this country and that there had been no trouble in their getting out of repair except in cases of accident in transporting them.

Primary Elections? One of the aldermen asked if the machine was adapted to primary elections. Mr. Hamilton said that the primary election law was as yet in embryo and it had not been deemed advisable to cumber the machine with devices.

"You needn't on my account," said Judge Sale. "But you are aware that that question is up for consideration in this state?" said Ald. Matheson. It was finally decided that a machine couldn't be used for such purposes anyway.

GOODLY NUMBER WILL JOIN CLASS

The Y. M. C. A. Study Department Is Becoming Very Popular This Winter.

At the Y. M. C. A. building a most unique opportunity is being offered to the young men of the city in the study classes, that have been organized. It is a great opportunity that is open to all young men in Jansville. The wise use of time is what every business man is most interested in. All young men should seek to meet this requirement and his chance is opened to him to help himself in the courses that have been started. In the bookkeeping department there are five students. The stenography four, the singing class six, and the reading class three. It is the judgment of the educational committee that ten should register each class before the actual work begins and any young men who are thinking of registering will do well to do so immediately.

Ralph Jackman came down from Madison this morning to visit at the parental home.

BELOIT SHOPS OPEN TOMORROW

SIX DEPTS. OF FAIRBANKS-MORSE CONCERN BEGIN WORK.

WAGE CUT OF 7 1-2 PER CENT

Will Be Inaugurated, Owing to the Lowering Market—Other Shops May Open Soon.

A seven and a half per cent reduction in wages will face the men who go to work in six departments of the Fairbanks-Morse Co., when they are opened up tomorrow morning, after a shut-down of over a fortnight for the purposes of inventory.

Shops to Be Opened. The departments to be opened include the gas-engine shop, the gas-engine paint and sanding department, the steam pump shop, the pattern shop, the smith shop, and the shipping department. No particulars are given as to when the other departments will resume work.

What Officials Say. Speaking of the opening of the Eclipse shops and the general conditions prevailing, the officials say: "We are on a lowering market and must face it. Our product is being sold cheaper. Competition is keener and under these conditions it is very difficult to hold trade. The departments mentioned will open Wednesday and others will start up as conditions warrant."

TWILIGHT CLUB MEETS TONIGHT

Modern Literature, from Standpoint of the Busy Man Will Be Discussed—Rev. Vaughn To Lead.

The December meeting of the Twilight club will be held at the Y. M. C. A. parlors this evening. The subject for discussion is "Modern Literature" and Rev. R. M. Vaughn will act as leader. The subject will be divided into six parts: The Drama of Today; The Northlands in Letters; The Leopard's Spots; Experience of a Bibliophile; Print and the Busy Man; Symposium—"I have read a good thing." This is to be open to all for discussion.

For the Firemen. The entertainment for the benefit of the firemen given at the Myers Grand tonight is supposed only to be the object for which it is given. It should be well patronized as it is a first-class performance, given for an exceptionally worthy cause.

Hon. John M. Whitehead spent the day at Clinton Junction. M. W. Barron of Beloit was in the city yesterday calling on the cigar trade.

SPECTACULAR RUN OF LOCAL FIREMEN

Reproduced on Screen by Kinetoscope Last Night—Big Audience De.

Lighted—Repeated Tonight.

An audience that filled every seat in the downstairs portion of the Myers theatre witnessed and applauded the moving pictures and vaudeville specialties last evening. The entertainment was given under the auspices of the Jansville fire department and will be repeated this evening. Everyone was curious to see the reproduction of the great run in this city several weeks ago and there was much applause when the great film depicting the life of a fireman began to throw the life size pictures on the screen. Starting with the call at night, the men leading from their beds, and the harnessing of the horses, the series presented thrilling runs in a score or more cities and following the runs came scenes at the burning buildings—rescues and leaps for life, concluding with the maneuvers of a fireboat near the Anchor Line docks in New York. The run and showing of the Jansville department compared very favorably with those of the larger cities and the pictures were very distinct.

There were numerous other pictures, including humorous scenes and moving panoramas, that delighted the spectators. The dedication of the St. Louis exposition with the great parade was one of the most interesting and instructive. John Murtha's songs and dialect stories, Miss Ray Herbert's song and dance specialties, and Miss Alice Gordon's illustrated songs pleased.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Tuesday, December 8, 1886.—Wm. H. Read has opened a new store in the Myers block, first door south of the Main street entrance.

"Old Rock."—The examination of drafted men for the intensely patriotic county of Rock is completed, and she "stands by the government" with a total of 25 men and a pile of fifty greenbacks!—Milwaukee News.

We cannot yet tell how many men this county will furnish under the late draft, as the proceedings under it have not been fully completed. But we do know what "the intensely patriotic county of Rock" has done heretofore. Under previous enlistment she has produced MEN enough "to stand by" the government—to have exempted her entirely from the last draft and carried over a handsome credit to the January call. If the proper allowance had been made and the draft enforced only on those counties which were deficient in their quotas "Old Rock" and Columbia, firm as the hills in their patriotism and republicanism had to shoulder the deficiency of oscillating, though boasting Dane, and the sluggishness of democratic Jefferson.

Towards the "pile of filthy greenbacks" the democrats drafted last month have contributed quite as freely, in proportion to their numbers, as republicans. No one of them has been so poor that he has not somehow found a way to throw in his money instead of his personal services.

The "patriotic" allusion of the News to "filthy greenbacks" suggests, moreover, another comparison of "Old Rock" with many of her sister counties in the state. The county has levied and paid a tax of $30,000 for bounties to encourage volunteering. Two years ago it levied a tax of $10,000 to aid the families of volunteers; last year it levied an equal amount, and this year it has doubled it—making a total county tax of $70,000 in aid of volunteers.

"Old Rock" has nothing to fear in a comparison with any county in the state; and she will willingly show hands with Milwaukee, with twice her population and ten times her personal wealth, as to what each has done in furnishing men or providing money to sustain the war.

Washington, Dec. 8.—The president will not send in his message until tomorrow at 12 o'clock, m.

Dismissal of Lt. Col. White.—The order dismissing Lt. Col. White, of this city, was for "absence without proper authority."

Coming Attractions.

The company which will present "Dare Devil Dorothy," the latest English novelty, in this city is the identical one which has been engaged for a six weeks run in New York later in the winter. Manager Myers is congratulating himself on having been able to secure this production before the regular what is known as a road company is put out, and he does not hesitate in recommending the play as being one of the strongest which he has booked for the present season. Now in its fourth year in England there are three sepi, and from all reports the business is greater than ever before. Embracing the several features of stage craft as it does, all in one, the production is said to be one of the most unique of this season's offerings. Drama, melo-drama, comic opera and musical comedy are the principal features of this most delightful entertainment, and presented as it is by an especially selected cast of singers, comedians and dramatic actors Manager Myers feels confident that this attraction will meet with a hearty welcome from our theatre-going public.

Arato companies touring that count. The gratifying announcement that is made that we are to have Mr. W. T. Epworth's musical comedy "A Run for Her Money" as the Myers Grand and no mistake in booking this organization, which is praised very highly, by both the press and public wherever it has visited.

This is the second year of the comedy and it is stronger than last year and comes in its entirety to best, as it is unquestionably the most laughable aggregation of the kind traveling for entertainment today. Great service has it rendered to the amusement loving people in furnishing them laughs galore.

One feature that should not be overlooked is that it is not of the suggestive character that is so much seen nowadays, no fights, but clean wholesome comedy, to make it show a success; are very attractive to young women who were selected for their clear rich voices. Of course comedy is necessary, and no little care was taken to secure good comedians whose main object is to make the people laugh, and they succeed in doing this, much to the satisfaction of the audiences who turn out in large crowds to see this laughable farce.

Among those well known in the theatrical circles as proficient in, they attempt are: Miss Jennie Calvert; Miss Maudie Phillips; Miss Anna Gardner; Miss Grace Mohring; Miss Carrie Perkins; Mr. Andy Wadron; Mr. Thomas P. Heller; Mr. Bert Crowell; Mr. T. L. Trexler; Mr. Chas. Baker; Mr. Walter Andrews and others.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Bingham (manager of Big Horn mine) and his daughter, overtaken by storm, stop for shelter at the Black Hawk, a prospect tunnel operated by Darcie (a young Englishman) and Mike McGowan. The father, having been drinking heavily, falls into a stupor in the warm cabin, and Darcie accompanies Faith to the Big Horn.

CHAPTER II.—Darcie hints to Faith at what he styles his "equivocal position," from which some strikers who overhear the remark jump to conclusion he is a spy or reporter. He also says he has found in her his "mountain lily."

CHAPTER III.—Mike airs his grievances against labor unions in general and tells Darcie of some of the common scandal concerning Bingham, to the effect that he is not only a "coaster," a coward and incapable, but a thief and swindler as well.

CHAPTER IV.—Darcie receives notice from strikers to leave the neighborhood. Abby Steers (Bingham's housekeeper) gives Mike a meal. Darcie recommends her to be called the mountain lily to meet her at an appointed place Tuesday night at 11 o'clock. Mike is suspicious of genuineness of message.

CHAPTER V.—Wan (man about the house, a Chinaman) reveals to Faith plot of Abby Steers and certain strikers to enter Darcie.

CHAPTER VI.—Darcie goes to keep his "tryst," but is met by a volley of bullets, one of which pierces his arm. Faith comes upon the scene and has him taken to the Big Horn. Wan, cleaning Darcie's blood-stained coat, comes upon a letter in his envelope, which he surrenders to Abby.

CHAPTER VII.—Darcie asks the doctor to mail a letter for him which Faith brings from his room. He asks also in alarm for another letter, which he meant to destroy. Faith fails to find it.

CHAPTER VIII.—Bingham, just coming out of a spree, gets his first account of the shooting affair from Abby, who gives him the letter found in Darcie's pocket. It was addressed to the president of company operating the Big Horn, and contains various threats against Bingham. He recommends that mine be shut down temporarily and all men (except the doctor and including manager) be discharged, signed by "John Darcie Hamilton." Bingham charges Faith with sympathizing with and harboring a spy, and proceeds to lecture her. Meeting his wife, Darcie gets only such an incoherent explanation for her odd conduct as leaves him to suppose she had opened his letter to satisfy her doubts concerning him.

CHAPTER IX.—The doctor, fearing strikers would use violence against Darcie, puts him and Mike in hiding in his own cellar.

CHAPTER X.—It is learned that strikers' suspicions as to Darcie being a spy have been confirmed from contents of the lost letter. The doctor thereupon plans for immediate departure of the two refugees, and of Faith also.

Faith was told that he entered for; so let him have it and find his way to the sideboard and so out of the world, where he was no longer of any use. "Faith could not have reasoned in this cold-blooded fashion; she acted on the impulse simply to do one little thing for him that he wanted done before she left him. If not that night, yet she must leave him soon; she could not afford to be harsh with what was already a memory, a grave."

There was yet one man in his senses in that distracted place whose courage and humanity could be counted on; the doctor, Faith knew, had returned to the mine. But as she flew to seek him at his office he was on his way to her, and thus they missed each other by contrary paths in the dark.

The office was locked. Faith beat upon the door with bare hands, but got no answer. Then she ran around to the kitchen door, which stood open, showing a light burning in an empty house.

The doctor could not be far away, she thought, and, stepping inside, she stood on the platform and shrieked: "Oh, doctor, doctor!" in a voice of anguish which brought, not the doctor, but Darcie Hamilton out of the cellar, where her piercing cry had reached him. He sprang to her side and put his good arm around her as the simplest way of answering that there he was if she needed him.

"What do you want of the doctor? What has happened? Dear, what is this horror in your face?"

"I thought you were gone," she said, "days ago!" She had forgotten that it was only the night before that he had left her father's house; it seemed as if it might have been years.

"We are going to-night," he answered. "Have you not seen the doctor?"

"No, no; I cannot find him. They are doing something dreadful to Wan, to make him tell where you are—and they are not done with him. I must find the doctor!"

"They are done with him," said Darcie, listening. "Hark! it's all quiet up the gulch."

"What do you mean? He is dead?"

"He has told."

"What! Does he know?"

"Why, it was he who brought me here. He'll tell you, now, if that will save him," Darcie explained.

The shock of this discovery, and its self-evident consequences, left the poor girl no strength wherewith to "conquer" any longer, for pride's sake. It was the simple truth that Darcie read in her face as their sad eyes met, in the sincerity of a moment that might be their last on earth together.

"Go this instant! Why do you stay here? Oh, mercy! where can he go?"

She tried to push him from her, while he held her in a dream, hardly daring to believe what his pale face told him.

"We are waiting for you, Faith."

no wonder that a faint, trembling girl, with a rather startling record, should have gone off somewhat in his temper. Heaven and earth! was he to be baited by children?

He had said to Faith that she could not go, without extraordinary precautions for her safety, in the excited state of feeling at the mines; but this had been merely for the purpose of reminding her that she was not quite mistress of the situation—free to repudiate her father, and depart from him whenever he should have paid for her ticket eastward. As a fact, she was not half so anxious to go as was he to have her; he did not desire her presence in his house, either as monitor or as witness, any longer. She had seen too much already, considering her general intelligence and her uncompromising way of looking at things. She must go back to the east, where in a short time such frank incidents as the ordeal of Wan and the ambush of Darcie Hamilton in the tanneries would appear to her as incredible as the nightmarish visions of a fever. And that she might not unwisely recall her visions in speech, he had, in that last painful interview in the library, taken measures to make her very tired of the subject of Darcie Hamilton. On this point at least he was easy.

As to Darcie, that young gentleman had been vastly busy at the manager's expense; he had formulated some dangerous discoveries; incidentally he had made rapid love to his daughter. Between business and pleasure he had been going very much at large. But he had been careless, as the two sure-footed are apt to be. If the Big Horn directors chose to send their younger sons masquerading as honest miners, into the Coeur d'Alene, they must post them better upon the local institutions.

"Monkeying with the buzz-saw" was pastime for children compared with a conflict of opinions with the Miners' union in the summer of 1902. Mr. Bingham proposed to shift his personal responsibilities frankly upon the union. If Darcie should never reach London with his verbal report (the documents were in Mr. Bingham's hands), and an international correspondence, transcending questions of business, should ensue, the manager was prepared to wash his own hands, and to point to the guns in the hands of his irrepressible allies of the union. The trade-unions have thus suffered always, and ever will suffer most, at the hands of their so-called friends.

And now we come to the last scene before the close of the war—the deportation of the "scabs," including a few non-combatants, among whom was Faith. Recording angels, recorders of the truth of any sort, were not in demand at that time in the Coeur d'Alene; the victors proposed to record matters to suit themselves.

FOR SALE BY BADGER DRUG CO.

The Story of the River

Way up in Minnesota a tiny rivulet starts on a side hill and slips, haltingly, hesitatingly, into the low lands.

One could easily destroy it. But why bother? It is such a tiny stream and does no apparent damage.

But presently it is not so small. It grows into a rushing brook. Then a busy little river. And finally a tremendous volume of muddy water that sweeps everything before it to destruction—a terrible monster that sneers at the puny efforts of man to check its ravages.

Like the little Minnesota stream, catarrh slips through the human system, gaining strength with each hour of neglect, until, in the end, like a great, turbulent Mississippi, it sweeps its victims into the flood of eternally.

Catarrh Starts With a Cold—a little cold that could be easily cured, but which, because it causes no pain, is allowed to run unchecked.

The cold may settle in the head and throat; in the stomach, intestines, liver, kidneys, and bladder; or in women, in the delicate organs of generation. Where it settles, there catarrh appears.

Catarrh is a disease of the mucous membranes. The mucous cells become congested—packed with poisonous secretions. Inflammation, then a putrid discharge—a smothering away of the tissues—with the blood carrying the poison through the entire system.

Few people escape this disease. It is best known as an affection of the nose and throat, but it is even more prevalent as a disease of the stomach, kidneys, etc., and far more dangerous. In women it is known by a variety of names, but whatever the name, it is really catarrh that has filled the land with pale, drawn, hollow-eyed, weak and sickly women.

After half a century of complete and utter failure in its efforts to combat this disease, science has at last bridged the mighty river of catarrh—has at last discovered a positive and permanent cure.

Rexall Mucu-Tone

embodies the great vital principle which specialists have so long sought in vain.

It is carried by the blood vessels to the affected membranes, whether in the head, the stomach or the pelvic cavity. Acting directly upon the mucous cells, it causes them to expand and contract vigorously and thus expel the poisonous secretions.

With the congestion relieved, the inflammation abates; the putrid matter is carried away; the membranes cleared; the natural functions resumed; and perfect health restored.

While this has been going on, the tonic properties of Mucu-Tone have been busy strengthening and building up the body.

We know for a fact that Rexall Mucu-Tone will cure catarrh in every form, no matter what organ is affected or how long the disease has stood. To show our confidence, we hereby agree to give you back your money if it fails to cure you.

Sold only at our store or by mail. Price per large bottle, 89c.

CHRISTMAS SHOE THOUGHTS

THERE ARE many things you can buy to make glad the heart of some man, woman or child the coming Xmas, but when you are making the selection of your gift, remember one thing—get something useful, something that is serviceable instead of ornamental. A pair of shoes or slippers would prove more than acceptable. Everybody needs shoes and have to buy them very often. This is not true of other things you may have had in mind to give that friend or relative as the case may be. Our large stock of shoes and slippers is complete in every sense of the word. True, our big closing out sale cut a gap in this stock but the fact must not be overlooked that our shoe stock is an exceptionally large one. We still have a large and excellent line of shoes and slippers for both men and women to select from, all up-to-date lasts and the best the market affords in wearing qualities. We carry all sizes.

Our large stock of Rubbers, Alaskas, Arctics and other rubber goods were all bought for the winter trade and customers purchasing same tell us that we are selling them from 10c to 50c cheaper than any other shoe concern in Janesville. An excellent line of High French Heel shoes for women in patent tip Kid and all Patent Leather. A pair of shoes or slippers will make an ideal gift, and we would suggest that you call and see what we have before buying elsewhere. The exceptional low closing out sale prices are still in force.
